means for translating said spoken words and phrases into a visual form which may be observed by a hearing impaired person;

said translating means including means for transforming said spoken words into equivalent signing content and then into textual material; means for outputting said textual material for display on a device utilized by said hearing impaired person; said device utilized by said hearing impaired person including means for receiving words and phrases from the hearing impaired person; said system including a video apparatus for visually observing any images of facial and hand and finger signing motions of the hearing impaired person and converting any observed signing motions into digital identifiers; said transforming means converting said words and phrases from the hearing impaired person into a form which may be presented to a hearing person; said transforming means including means for translating said digital identifiers of said observed signing motions into words and phrases;

means for outputting said translated words and phrases from said hearing impaired person; and said outputting means including means for outputting said words and phrases generated by the visual observation of said signing motions in a comprehensible form to another person.--

REMARKS

Re-examination and favorable reconsideration in light of the above amendments and the following comments are respectfully requested.

Claims 1 - 45 are pending in the application.

Currently, claims 1 - 32 stand allowed; and claims 33 - 45 stand rejected. By the present amendment, new claim 46 has been added to the application.

In the office action mailed February 18, 2003, claims 33 - 45 were rejected under 35 U.S.C. §251 as being an improper recapture of broadened claimed subject matter surrendered in the application for the patent upon which reissue is based. It is submitted that the Examiner's analysis of claims 33 - 45 is in error since independent